Save the Date: The BIG READ!

Poet Kevin Young April 7

Poet Kevin Young, author of Book of Hours, kicks off the NEA Big Read Sunday, April 7 at 3 p.m. Young is the Director of the Schomburg Center for Research in Black Culture, and poetry editor for The New Yorker. He is widely regarded as one of the leading poets of his generation. The NEA Big Read is a national initiative of the National Endowment for the Arts in partnership with Arts Midwest. It broadens our understanding of our world, our communities, and ourselves through the joy of sharing a good book.

TEDx is Coming Back

The Ferguson is hosting a TEDx Talk May 11 based on the theme of community. We are accepting applications for speakers until February 28. Contact Jason Wilkins at jwilkins@fergusonlibrary.org.

Focus on Ferguson

The Heart of the Community

From the President’s Desk

February is a short month that is full of activities for every age. We offer favorites such as Mother Goose for walking babies, and Tax Help for those of us who need some assistance. Our Visitation series begins another season with business man Jack Mitchell, and for the sixth year, we will be participating in Fairfield County’s Giving Day. But we are also pleased to offer several new and different programs. Our new film series: News Front, presents films that depict the impact of journalism through the lens of American cinema. With the Haitian Women’s Association of CT, UNESCO Center for Global Friendship, and Haitian TV on Network, we will sponsor a Black History Month family celebration, Black Migrations, honoring African Americans as they moved from the farm to the cities, and from poverty to the national stage in business, politics, literature and the arts. For the first time, and on a new carpet, you will have a chance to play mini-golf at the Harry Bennett Branch (and help the Friends of The Ferguson Library raise some funds). For such a short month, we have a lot to keep the winter blues away!
