Our team read for all IB students and IB teachers for the 2019-2020 school year is:

Think Like a Freak

by Stephen D. Levitt and Stephen J. Dubner

While reading Think Like a Freak, use a pen or pencil to annotate directly in the margins of your copy of the book. Pay particular attention to the following:

Your reactions:
Consider your personal reactions to the authors’ anecdotes, research, and conclusions:
- What surprised you? What did not surprise you? What challenged your existing beliefs? What validated your own opinions?

Your questions:
Look for elements of the book that left you wanting to know more:
- What clarifications do you need? What questions come up about your own life experience or things you have observed in the world around you? What gets you thinking?

Remember, these are guiding questions to keep in mind as you read. All your notations should be made with a pen or pencil (no highlighters!) right there on the pages of your book. Your Research Foundations teachers will award you credit for your annotations and will begin the new year with this text as the jump-start into the coursework. Bring this book with you to class on the first day.
