September is Library Card Sign Up Month

Please join us for the opening of our fall art exhibit, Art & Text, Thursday, September 19 at 6 p.m. in the Ferguson’s Auditorium Gallery. The juried show, curated by the Stamford Art Association, is being held in cooperation with Art Spaces in Fairfield County Libraries, a consortium of 13 libraries that offers curated visual art exhibitions, featuring the work of local and regional artists. Art & Text will run at The Ferguson until January. (left) Reverie by Heidi Lewis Coleman.

Art at The Ferguson

September is Library Card Sign Up Month

A library card is the most important school supply of all. A Ferguson Library card gives your child access to all our resources, including books for school assignments and online homework help. During September, your child or teen can bring his or her new library card to the Youth Services Department and get a free book to take home.

Winfield Street Coffee

Work is in the final stretch at Winfield Street Coffee. The Ferguson’s new coffee shop is expected to open early this fall with Counter Culture Coffee, Hudson Valley Harvest produce and fresh-baked goods, sandwiches and salads. The cafe will provide employment opportunities for at-risk youth through the nonprofit organization, Domus.

Literary Pub Crawl Registration is Open

Registration is open for our fifth annual Literary Pub Crawl on October 22. We’ll start at the Library and “crawl” to several downtown restaurants, ending up at the Library for a special dessert and comedy finale. Tickets are $20 and you’ll enjoy entertainment at each location. Sign up early at fergusonlibrary.org. We always sell out!

Focus on Ferguson

The Ferguson Library began offering eBooks early on. But they still represent only eight percent of our usage. It’s not that there is no demand. In fact, e-material is our biggest growth area. As we try to meet this growing demand, we struggle with the cost of individual eBooks. The price of these books has fluctuated from slightly more than a hardcover – about $30 – to almost $100 (on print material, we receive a significant discount). Even at that price, the Library doesn’t own the book, but only leases it. The big five publishers can change the terms and cost with little notice.

That is what happened this summer. One publisher decided not sell its eBooks until eight weeks after the release date. Another doubled the price overnight. In the past, we absorbed these costs without explaining our frustration. Now, with this newest increase, we want you to know our dilemma. Our goal is to provide the highest level of service, including offering the type of materials you are looking for, but we are hampered by a situation beyond our control. For more information on this topic, please check out the Books, Movies & More page of our website, https://fergusonlibrary.org/learn-explore/books-movies-more/.

New Bookmobile!

The Ferguson Library’s new Bookmobile hits the road September 4! The new vehicle replaces our 19-year-old bus, which will be donated to the Stamford Fire Department for training purposes. This Bookmobile is smaller and able to visit locations the previous vehicle couldn’t access.

We will hold an open house later this fall for a first-hand look at Stamford’s new traveling library. Details to come.

Innovation Week and Startup Weekend

Join us for a weekend of fun, ideas and entrepreneurial energy Friday, September 20 to Sunday, September 22 for Startup Weekend Stamford, part of Stamford Innovation Week. Learn how to start a real company in just one weekend with the help of mentors, investors and sponsors.

Tickets are free. Register online at fergusonlibrary.org or call Elizabeth Joseph at 203 351-8224 for more information.

Innovation Week runs September 19 – 28, with a series of conferences and workshops held at UConn Stamford and other locations, focused on innovation and technology. Visit https://iweek.org for more information.
